HOA AGREEMENT FOR FULL TITLE HOMES: PROPERTY TRANSFER RESPONSIBILITY WHEN WITHOUT UPDATED AND APPROVED TSHWANE BUILDING PLANS WITH THE RELEVANT OCCUPANCY CERTIFICATE.

Stand number: _____

The Seller: Name & Surname: _____

The Purchaser: Name & Surname: _____

Approved Tshwane building plans and the relevant occupancy certificate for a Full Title Home is the responsibility of the Seller.

Where building plans are not up to date with The Wilds HOA and the City of Tshwane, puts the Seller and Purchaser at risk that the City of Tshwane can request/demand that the structures that are not on the plans be removed and especially where the structures are erected within registered servitudes. Therefore, it is the responsibility of every person acquiring a new property in The Wilds Estate to ensure that they receive from the Seller approved Tshwane building plans and the relevant occupancy certificate that match the property to eliminate the risk.

The Wilds HOA is not responsible for the "negligence" of an owner where the owner did not ensure that the building plans and / or the relevant occupancy certificate of his/her property are up to date and approved by the City of Tshwane at the time of acquiring the property.

Where properties have been transferred in the past with structures that are not on the approved building plans by the City of Tshwane, The Wilds HOA requirements are the Seller will have the plans updated, signed by the HOA Aesthetics Committee, and submitted to the Council for their approval. Kindly note HOA approval is subject to Council approval. Guidelines to submit amended plans are available on the website: www.the-wilds.co.za. The HOA Management will require a copy of the submission receipt. The Purchaser to obtain a copy of the submission receipt from the Seller. This receipt is important for the Purchaser to collect the amended approved Tshwane plans and to apply for the new occupancy certificate.

The signature of the Seller and Purchaser is required to acknowledge that the unit plans and occupancy certificate are not up to date. The Purchaser accepts the risk and will take the necessary steps to have the plans and new occupancy certificate collected from the Council and to submit these documents to The HOA Management within one year of signing this agreement. Failing such, a monthly penalty equivalent to the HOA levy will be allocated on the new owners MidCity account until all the required documents are received. This property may not be sold again unless copies of these documents were submitted to the HOA Management.

The cost to get the plans and the new occupancy certificate approved is between the Seller and the Purchaser. Please be aware that the Council could require an engineer's reports and a glass certificate - and any other information that could be costly before they approved the plans and the occupancy certificate. Kindly note, it is the responsibility of the new owner to keep the original approved Tshwane building plans and the occupancy certificate should the HOA require these copies again.

If the purchaser agrees to all the terms and conditions stated in this agreement the clearance process will continue for the property to transfer. If not, the HOA Management will wait until the Seller provides the amended approved Tshwane building plans with the new occupancy certificate. The HOA management will not engage in any other agreement than stated above.
